YOUNG VISIONS 2023

Student Artwork from Studio in a School
June 21-26, 2023 • Christie's New York

Introduction

The Studio in a School Association is proud to present Young Visions 2023: Student Artwork from Studio in a School, an exhibition hosted by our cultural partner Christie's New York. With over 200 vibrant artworks, this exhibition highlights the outstanding artistic achievements of students from Studio's visual arts education programs. Studio serves children and teens from pre-school through twelfth grade at New York City public schools and community-based organizations in all five boroughs. We are pleased to include artwork from students in Studio programs in Cleveland, Ohio, Greenwich, Connecticut, as well as East Orange and Newark, New Jersey.

Working with Studio artist instructors, students observe, imagine, and interpret the people, places, and things that make up their lives. Young Visions 2023 showcases students' development of skills and capacities as reflected in their artistic choices. Beyond the artworks included here, this exhibition honors the effort, learning, growth, and creativity of every child who participated in Studio's programs this year.

As our communities continue to recover from the lasting impact of the COVID-19 pandemic, the visual arts remain more vital than ever, providing young people with much-needed opportunities for social and emotional growth and an outlet to explore their feelings and experiences. Young Visions 2023 brings together exceptional student artworks from the schools Studio proudly works with. Seen collectively, these artworks powerfully underscore the curiosity, imagination, and promise of the city's next generation.

We are grateful to our artist instructors for their hard work and dedication. They are true ambassadors of the arts, sharing their passion for creativity with countless students across New York City and beyond. We are equally appreciative of the many school and community partners that have invited us into their buildings. We are honored by their openness, collaboration, and commitment to arts education. We hope this exhibition will bring joy to everyone who sees it.

Letter from Dr. Hasna Muhammad, Board Chair

Young Visions is Studio in a School's annual culminating exhibition that celebrates the creative achievements of our students and highlights the significance of the arts within a well-rounded education. The exhibition gathers more than 200 outstanding pieces of student artwork in one elegant space where visitors are amazed by a mere sampling of the true breadth and scope of Studio's visual art programs.

At the core of Studio's pedagogy, artist instructors help students discover new ways to make meaning and express themselves. Through deep exploration of materials and open-ended creative prompts, artist instructors create an environment that encourages students' creativity to flourish. The result is marvelous student work that is optimistic, insightful, and a genuine reflection of their lives and communities.

Young Visions is not only a celebration of students' creativity, but it is also Studio's way of paying tribute to the schools, families, and students with whom we proudly collaborate. We are honored to partner with incredible schools and community-based organizations in New York City and beyond. Last year, the exhibition expanded its reach to welcome artwork from students in Cleveland, Ohio, and Newark, New Jersey for the first time. This year's new firsts are welcome additions from programs in Greenwich, Connecticut, and East Orange, New Jersey.

Young Visions is a testament to the extraordinary efforts, talent, and professionalism of our artist instructors and administrative staff. Their exceptional commitment to our students and the mission of Studio is the cornerstone of the exhibition as is the support of and collaboration with the stakeholders at the sites that we serve.

Young Visions is a reminder of the transformative power of art education and the impact of art on all our lives. On behalf of the Board of Directors of Studio in a School, I extend my deepest appreciation to everyone involved at the sites that we serve.

Thank you.

Dr. Hasna Muhammad

About Studio in a School Association

Studio in a School Association fosters the creative and intellectual development of youth through quality visual arts programs. Studio also collaborates with arts programming providers, offering professional development and curriculum support to schools and community organizations.

Since our founding in 1977 by Agnes Gund, our programs have continued to thrive, bringing visual arts education taught by professional artists to students in New York City and beyond. We fulfill our mission through our NYC Schools Program, serving students in pre-K through high school and Studio Institute, which shares professional learning, partnership programs, arts internships, and research grants at local and national forums. Together, we're enriching young lives through visual arts.

In Appreciation of CHRISTIE'S

We wish to acknowledge our long-time cultural partner, Christie's New York, for hosting Young Visions annually in their galleries at 20 Rockefeller Plaza. Christie's hosts additional exhibitions on their website each year, further amplifying the inspiring work of Studio's students. We thank Christie's for their generosity and look forward to collaborating on digital and in-person exhibitions for years to come.

In Appreciation of our Supporters

Studio in a School receives generous support from foundations, government partners, corporations, and individuals. Their support makes our work possible and ensures students in New York City and Studio Institute's partner cities have access to high quality visual arts education. We are grateful for their contributions and partnership.

Early Childhood Drawing Self-Portraits: Exploring Oil Pastels and Watercolor

In 2022-2023, Studio artist instructors teaching in Early Childhood programs introduced a new ten week drawing curriculum. Three- and Four-year-olds explored mark making, lines, and what happens when a line closes. Children discovered how to mix colors using oil pastels and watercolors and then combined their skills to create magic circles and a self portrait. This display illustrates ten weeks of lessons created by children across Early Childhood Program sites.

Multilingual Learners Art Lab

Studio NYC's MLL Art Lab was designed to support the language acquisition skills of Multilingual Learners, who comprise 14% of all NYC students. We developed a model that integrates language supports into our lessons, using visual art as an entry point for students who are new to English. Art lessons are aligned with benchmarks in the Blueprint for Teaching and Learning in the Visual Arts. They are paired with separate reflection lessons to further rich language skills and rigorous inquiry through related close looking at works of art, sketching, writing, and discussion. Our work has demonstrated that these strategies and approaches are highly effective for all learners.

We are grateful for our close partnership with the New York City Department of Education Arts Office and funding from New York Community Trust, and the New York City Department of Cultural Affairs and City Council.

I want people to know this crocodile was hard to make. I used a ball and cylinder small and big for the head and a cylinder for the body and a small cylinder for the legs. I stretched the clay to make the clay big to change the shape. First I made a ciliated so big. Second I was trying to make a body so big. Next I make the legs in a small cylinder. Finally I made the head with the ball and cylinder small and big. I scored the clay by scratching it and put in some water. Second I make the body with cylinder and play and make the body. Third I was made in the shape of my crocodile body. Next I was drawing to make the legs. I was so mad because the legs were falling and the legs did not come up and I was crying and the legs were finally come up. Finally I mad the head so easy to make. I painted my animal using green and red metallic paint. One challenge I had while making my clay animal is the legs. I solved the problem by having a lot of time to make the legs. One thing that surprised my about working with clay is how I was able to make the body and the head and the teeth.

The 3d shapes I used for my animal was: a big cylinder, 4 more big cylinders, sphere, cone and one long cylinder. The color I used for my Pouncing dog was pearl (metallic paint). The challenge I had was the clay animals leg, tail, ears and head kept falling. I fixed it by putting a lot of water (4 finger dips) and it managed to stay on! The surprising thing about working with clay for me, the first time feels uncomfortable. But as I kept using clay it didn't feel uncomfortable anymore.

I want people to know my Dog's name is Lily. I used a sphere for the head and a cylinder for the body and cube for the legs. I rolled the clay to change the shape. First I rolled the clay. Second I pinched the clay. Next I squished it a little. I scored the clay by scratching the clay with forks. Second, I added clay water to it. Third I scratch the other piece. Next I add clay water on the other. Finally I add the pieces together. I painted my animal using gold metallic paint. One challenge I had while making my clay animal is to add little details. I solved the problem by first making it then adding it. One thing that surprised me about working with clay is how it changed from a fox to a dog because I had so little time but I finished it so quickly.

I want people to know that my Lion is great at hunting. I used a sphere for the head and a cylinder for the body and a cylinder for the legs. I rolled and tapped the clay to change the shape. First I made a cylinder for the body. Second, I rolled the tail. Next I rolled the legs. Finally I rolled my head. I scored the clay by scratch the clay. Second, I added slip. Third, I attached the clay. Next I pulled the clay. Finally I attach the legs and tail. I painted my animal using gold metallic paint. One challenge I had while making my clay animal is the hair around the head. I solved the problem by pulling and adding more clay. One thing that surprised me about working with clay is how the animal came out.

I want people to know anyone can make anything if you try and don't give up. I used a sphere for the head and a cylinder for the body and smaller cylinders for the legs. I pulled and rolled the clay to change the shape. First I made the 3d (3 dimensional) shapes I would need for the dinosaur. Second I scored the shapes together by scratching and attaching then smoothing it out. Next I shape the head, body, legs, tail, arms, claws into the correct shape I wanted it to be. Finally I add the small details such as the eyes, teeth, horns, and etc. I scored the clay by scratching and attaching. Second, I made 3 dimensional shapes. Third I smoothed the shapes out. Next I scored the shapes together. Finally I added the small details like eyes, teeth, horns, and etc. I painted my animal using golden metallic paint. One challenge I had while making my clay animal is shaping and making the teeth. I solved the problem by making a 3 dimensional rectangular prism then I used a fork to shape the teeth. One thing that surprised me about working with clay is that the clay can become solid and have cracks in them.

I want people to know my clay animal is an Elephant. I used a sphere for the head and a cylinder for the body and a small cylinder for the legs. I used my hands to change the shape. First I made the body. Second I made legs. Next I made a head. Finally I made up the details. I scored the clay by using a fork. Second, I scratched the clay. Third, I poked the clay. Next I put water on the clay. Finally I attached it. I painted my animal using silver metallic paint. One challenge I had while making my clay animal is the clay animal being loose. I solved the problem by adding more clay. One thing that surprised me about working with clay is that it is easy to work with.

Artworks from the Studio Institute

Studio Institute provides opportunities for learners of all ages through visual arts education and career development programs in cities across the country.

These works share the joys of discovery as students aged two through second grade explore painting, collage and 3-D work in the Institute's Creative Start program, offered at Head Start and school programs in Newark and East Orange, New Jersey, Cleveland, Ohio, and Greenwich, Connecticut.

Also on exhibit are works from students in our school partnerships at the Clara E. Westropp, and Mary B. Martin Schools in Cleveland, Ohio, where Studio's in-school residencies serve students from Pre-Kindergarten through 8th grade. Working in a variety of media the students explore and create, while making connections to other learning and exploring their own creativity.

Locally, Studio Institute's out-of-school programs for NYC teens include a series of Studio Intensives in which students hone their skills in a variety of media, from charcoal figure drawing to painting with watercolor and acrylics to landscapes in oil pastel. The works reflect the teens' interests, perspectives and observations of the world, people and things around them as they develop as artists.
